

A PERSONAL ASTROLOGY REPORT

Two Charts, One Conversation

Avery and Jordan

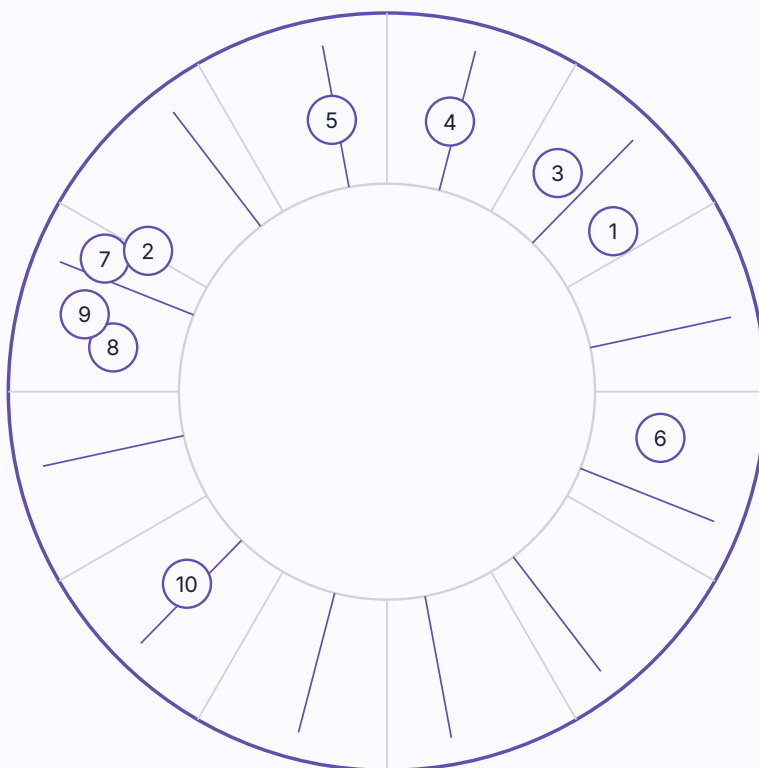

Avery | May 15, 1990 · 2:30 PM · New York, NY

Jordan | October 8, 1992 · 9:15 AM · Chicago, IL

A guided reading of calculated chart positions, original Synastry editorial and questions for your own reflection.

Avery's chart

Tropical positions and birth-time-dependent house cusps

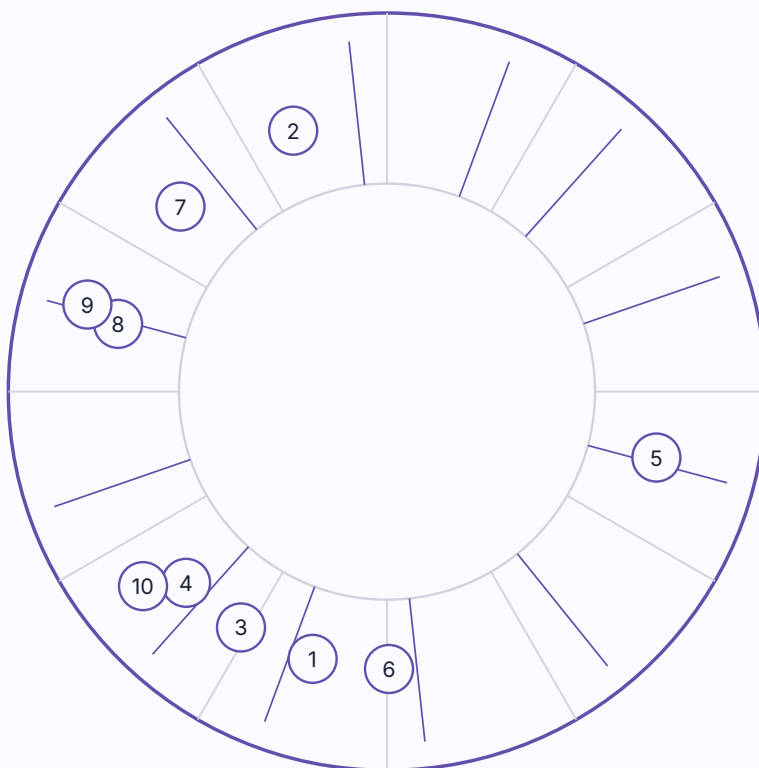

Exact positions

- | | |
|----------------------------|--------------------------|
| 1. Sun 24.7° Taurus | 2. Moon 0.5° Aquarius |
| 3. Mercury 8.0° Taurus | 4. Venus 13.1° Aries |
| 5. Mars 18.5° Pisces | 6. Jupiter 9.6° Cancer |
| 7. Saturn 25.2° Capricorn | 8. Uranus 9.2° Capricorn |
| 9. Neptune 14.3° Capricorn | 10. Pluto 16.2° Scorpio |

Wheel position uses exact calculated longitude. Number labels separate nearby planets; the key gives the precise sign and degree.

Jordan's chart

Tropical positions and birth-time-dependent house cusps

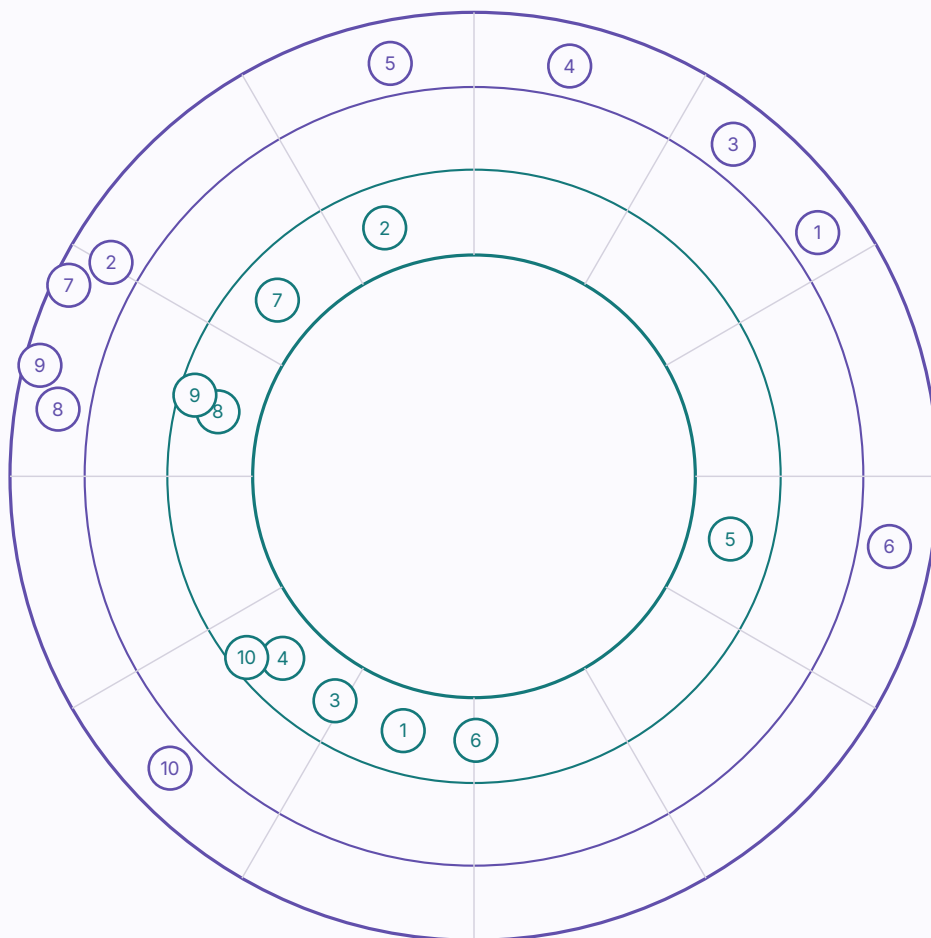

Exact positions

- | | |
|----------------------------|---------------------------|
| 1. Sun 15.6° Libra | 2. Moon 10.2° Pisces |
| 3. Mercury 1.8° Scorpio | 4. Venus 16.4° Scorpio |
| 5. Mars 13.7° Cancer | 6. Jupiter 29.6° Virgo |
| 7. Saturn 11.9° Aquarius | 8. Uranus 14.1° Capricorn |
| 9. Neptune 16.2° Capricorn | 10. Pluto 21.4° Scorpio |

Wheel position uses exact calculated longitude. Number labels separate nearby planets; the key gives the precise sign and degree.

Two-chart wheel

Avery is the outer violet track; Jordan is the inner teal track. Both use the same tropical longitude scale.

Avery - outer violet ring: numbered positions match the preceding Avery chart key.

Jordan - inner teal ring: numbered positions match the preceding Jordan chart key.

A shared wheel lets you compare longitudes directly. Each person has a separate house wheel; reciprocal overlays are calculated and explained later in the report.

Two starting points

Each chart belongs to a person with their own history and choices.

Avery's Sun in Taurus

24.7° Taurus · 9th House

At your center, you may be learning to trust what is steady, tangible, and worth tending-especially around belief, learning, exploration, and meaning.

Your strength: Your capacity to radiate purpose may draw on patience, embodiment, and loyalty to what truly matters.

Watch for: When recognition feels uncertain, you may perform instead of reveal yourself; staying safe can harden into resisting a necessary change. This pattern is not your identity.

REFLECT Where does this sun theme fit your experience, and where does your experience differ?

Avery's Moon in Aquarius

0.5° Aquarius · 5th House

To feel safe enough to soften, you may think beyond inherited rules and make room for a truer future-especially around creativity, pleasure, romance, and being seen.

Your strength: Your emotional intelligence may draw on originality, clear perspective, and care for the larger pattern.

Watch for: When safety feels uncertain, old defenses may answer first; independence can become distance or let the idea eclipse the person. This pattern is not your identity.

REFLECT Where does this moon theme fit your experience, and where does your experience differ?

Avery's Venus in Aries

13.1° Aries · 7th House

Your heart may recognize beauty and belonging when you act on what feels true instead of waiting for permission—especially around partnership, reciprocity, and one-to-one commitment.

Your strength: Your gift for connection and discernment may draw on courage, candor, and permission to begin.

Watch for: When belonging feels at risk, pleasing may replace honest reciprocity; speed can outrun reflection or turn uncertainty into a fight. This pattern is not your identity.

REFLECT Where does this venus theme fit your experience, and where does your experience differ?

Jordan's Sun in Libra

15.6° Libra · 11th House

At your center, you may be learning to seek connection, proportion, and a truth two people can live with—especially around friendship, community, belonging, and shared futures.

Your strength: Your capacity to radiate purpose may draw on grace, perspective, and the ability to create fairer bonds.

Watch for: When recognition feels uncertain, you may perform instead of reveal yourself; keeping peace can hide your position or postpone necessary conflict. This pattern is not your identity.

REFLECT Where does this sun theme fit your experience, and where does your experience differ?

Jordan's Moon in Pisces

10.2° Pisces · 4th House

To feel safe enough to soften, you may feel beyond words and let imagination reveal what logic cannot—especially around home, roots, and your private emotional foundation.

Your strength: Your emotional intelligence may draw on compassion, imagination, and trust in life's subtler currents.

Watch for: When safety feels uncertain, old defenses may answer first; openness can blur limits or make longing feel more solid than fact. This pattern is not your identity.

REFLECT Where does this moon theme fit your experience, and where does your experience differ?

Jordan's Venus in Scorpio

16.4° Scorpio · 1st House

Your heart may recognize beauty and belonging when you stay with what is real even when it changes you-especially around how you enter life and claim your presence.

Your strength: Your gift for connection and discernment may draw on depth, loyalty, and the courage to face what others avoid.

Watch for: When belonging feels at risk, pleasing may replace honest reciprocity; self-protection can become secrecy, control, or a test no one agreed to take. This pattern is not your identity.

| REFLECT Where does this venus theme fit your experience, and where does your experience differ?

Where the charts meet

Exact cross-chart contacts are ordered by closeness of orb.

Avery's Venus square Jordan's Mars

Cross-chart square · orb 0.61°

The Venus person's desire to please and the Mars person's desire to pursue meet in the relationship's magnetic center. This is the zodiac's most classic chemistry.

A square brings different priorities into contact. A specific request can help each person stay visible.

REFLECT Each person: when does this fit your experience, and what would you want the other to understand?

Avery's Moon square Jordan's Mercury

Cross-chart square · orb 1.25°

The Moon person's feelings and the Mercury person's words form a bridge between what is sensed and what can be said.

A square brings different priorities into contact. A specific request can help each person stay visible.

REFLECT Each person: when does this fit your experience, and what would you want the other to understand?

Avery's Mars trine Jordan's Venus

Cross-chart trine · orb 2.11°

The Venus person's desire to please and the Mars person's desire to pursue meet in the relationship's magnetic center. This is the zodiac's most classic chemistry.

A trine suggests a fluent connection. Notice what feels easy and whether it still serves both people.

REFLECT Each person: when does this fit your experience, and what would you want the other to understand?

Avery's Mercury sextile Jordan's Moon

Cross-chart sextile · orb 2.25°

The Moon person's feelings and the Mercury person's words form a bridge between what is sensed and what can be said.

A sextile suggests an opening for cooperation. Its possibilities still ask for attention and choice.

REFLECT Each person: when does this fit your experience, and what would you want the other to understand?

Avery's Venus opposition Jordan's Sun

Cross-chart opposition · orb 2.42°

The Sun person's core self and the Venus person's way of loving meet here - identity and affection try to agree on what is beautiful and worth keeping.

An opposition puts contrasting needs in view. Explore both perspectives before assigning fixed roles.

REFLECT Each person: when does this fit your experience, and what would you want the other to understand?

A shared thread

A joint reading drawn from this pair's calculated contacts.

The closest contact

Avery's Venus square Jordan's Mars · orb 0.61°

The smallest orb in this selected set connects Avery's Venus with Jordan's Mars. The square describes a way these two themes can meet; compare it with what each of you actually experiences before drawing a conclusion.

| REFLECT Where do your accounts of this contact agree, and where do they diverge?

Ease and friction together

Avery's Mars trine Jordan's Venus · Avery's Venus square Jordan's Mars

The trine between Avery's Mars and Jordan's Venus may offer a familiar point of cooperation. The square between Avery's Venus and Jordan's Mars may ask for a clearer request or boundary. Neither contact cancels the other; together they give you two specific conversations to test.

| REFLECT What helps you cooperate, and which difference deserves a direct conversation?

House overlays

Each direction is shown separately because the house wheels differ.

Avery's Sun in Jordan's 7th House

Calculated from Jordan's placidus house cusps

In Jordan's chart, the 7th house concerns partnership, negotiation and mutual regard. Avery's Sun position falls in that house. This points to a possible conversation about that theme; it does not establish either person's intent or feelings.

REFLECT How does Jordan experience partnership, negotiation and mutual regard, and what does Avery notice?

Avery's Moon in Jordan's 3rd House

Calculated from Jordan's placidus house cusps

In Jordan's chart, the 3rd house concerns conversation, learning and everyday exchange. Avery's Moon position falls in that house. This points to a possible conversation about that theme; it does not establish either person's intent or feelings.

REFLECT How does Jordan experience conversation, learning and everyday exchange, and what does Avery notice?

Avery's Venus in Jordan's 5th House

Calculated from Jordan's placidus house cusps

In Jordan's chart, the 5th house concerns play, creative expression and joy. Avery's Venus position falls in that house. This points to a possible conversation about that theme; it does not establish either person's intent or feelings.

REFLECT How does Jordan experience play, creative expression and joy, and what does Avery notice?

Avery's Mars in Jordan's 4th House

Calculated from Jordan's placidus house cusps

In Jordan's chart, the 4th house concerns home, roots and private belonging. Avery's Mars position falls in that house. This points to a possible conversation about that theme; it does not establish either person's intent or feelings.

REFLECT How does Jordan experience home, roots and private belonging, and what does Avery notice?

Jordan's Sun in Avery's 2nd House

Calculated from Avery's placidus house cusps

In Avery's chart, the 2nd house concerns resources and what feels secure. Jordan's Sun position falls in that house. This points to a possible conversation about that theme; it does not establish either person's intent or feelings.

REFLECT How does Avery experience resources and what feels secure, and what does Jordan notice?

Jordan's Moon in Avery's 6th House

Calculated from Avery's placidus house cusps

In Avery's chart, the 6th house concerns habits, care and daily work. Jordan's Moon position falls in that house. This points to a possible conversation about that theme; it does not establish either person's intent or feelings.

REFLECT How does Avery experience habits, care and daily work, and what does Jordan notice?

Jordan's Venus in Avery's 3rd House

Calculated from Avery's placidus house cusps

In Avery's chart, the 3rd house concerns conversation, learning and everyday exchange. Jordan's Venus position falls in that house. This points to a possible conversation about that theme; it does not establish either person's intent or feelings.

REFLECT How does Avery experience conversation, learning and everyday exchange, and what does Jordan notice?

Jordan's Mars in Avery's 10th House

Calculated from Avery's placidus house cusps

In Avery's chart, the 10th house concerns public roles, responsibility and long-range aims. Jordan's Mars position falls in that house. This points to a possible conversation about that theme; it does not establish either person's intent or feelings.

REFLECT How does Avery experience public roles, responsibility and long-range aims, and what does Jordan notice?

A conversation to return to

Make room for both perspectives

Shared themes may feel different from each side. Neither person is reduced to a score.

| REFLECT Where do your accounts of the same moment differ, and what would help each of you feel heard?

Turn a pattern into a choice

Compare symbolic descriptions with your actual relationship and decide what to do together.

| REFLECT What concrete agreement would you like to try and revisit?

Method and limits

Avery: tropical zodiac; houses: placidus; calculation: Astronomy Engine 2.1.19; birth details: May 15, 1990 · 2:30 PM · New York, NY.

Jordan: tropical zodiac; houses: placidus; calculation: Astronomy Engine 2.1.19; birth details: October 8, 1992 · 9:15 AM · Chicago, IL.

Cross-chart aspects use both calculated tropical natal charts. These descriptions are reflective, not predictions or odds of relationship success. Use another person's birth details only with their permission.

The chart describes symbols, not facts about personality, consent, future events or relationship outcomes. Keep what is useful and set aside what does not fit.